* The McNair Scholars Program is strictly for students who are committed to pursuing a Ph.D. degree. Students interested in medical, legal, or other professional degrees should not apply. McNair students who go on to pursue an M.D., a J.D., D.D.S., and other Master's or professional degrees may be required to repay the McNair award.

 Low income is defined by the Federal government using the family's taxable income from IRS Form 1040 (2008) line 43, 1040A (2008) line 27, 1040EZ (2008) line 6. Please see the Department of Education website: <http://www.ed.gov/about/offices/list/ope/trio/incomelevels.html> for low-income level determinations.

† The US Department of Education defines first generation college student as a student who has not resided with, or received primary support from, a parent who has received a B.A. degree or its equivalent.

†† African American, Chicano/Latino, and Native American students are considered underrepresented in higher education.

Your research proposal and personal statement are vital parts of the application and are closely reviewed. Please answer the following prompts on separate sheets of paper. The documents should be typed, double-spaced and in 12pt font.

1. In 300 words or less, describe the research interest/question that will be the basis of your McNair project, and proposed methods for its implementation.²
2. In 400 words or less, tell us about your academic and career goals, paying special attention to how a Ph.D. is essential to those pursuits.
3. Optional: In 200 words or less, provide any additional information you would like us to consider.

Provide the names of two UC Berkeley faculty members who you believe would be ideal mentors for your research project.

Mentor 1: _____
Mentor 2: _____

Have you discussed this project with either or both professors? Yes No

Letters of Recommendation

We require two letters of recommendation from faculty; please use the attached forms. Letters should address how your academic interests and preparation make you well suited to the program. If you cannot obtain TWO faculty letters, you may submit ONE faculty letter and ONE letter from a Graduate Student Instructor who can comment on your academic performance and research potential. Please keep in mind that the letters of recommendation are significant elements of your application.
